Agrify Vertical Farming Unit Dial in your grow. Dial up your yield.

The only modular, compartmentalized microclimate vertical farming system on the market, Agrify VFUs give you precise control and automation over light photoperiod and intensity, temperature, humidity, VPD, CO2, fertigation, and irrigation throughout the lifecycle of the plants.

With up to three levels of stackability and a built-in catwalk system, you get even higher productivity, accessibility, and safety.

Our vertical, technology-driven approach is a far cry from the racks and fans of inefficient single-level indoor grows—and the results speak for themselves.

Agrify Insights™ Know more. Grow more.

Powerful software takes the guesswork out of growing by helping your team plan future grows, deep-dive into current crop statuses, look back at historical data, and more—all while giving you proven tools to solve any problem that arises.

With a custom dashboard for every role in your organization—from owner/operators to facility managers to floor staff—everyone gets instant access to the information they need, when they need it.

Agrify Insights also integrates with METRC and Confident Cannabis, so compliance and testing data are just a tap away.
